

ADHD ADVERTISING

"Where Selling You Out Is Our Main Focus"

Interoffice Memo

Date: 04/06/1964
To: Absolutely Nobody
From: Mrs. P. Nutmeg
RE:

- Entire Staff missing after Wardair plane crashes in the Atlantic
- Pierre reports declined sales and patronage at The French Connection Lounge
- Also missing: Wardair stewardess Darla Pritchard and Passenger Benvolio Crane
- Rescue aircraft report sightings of SOS signs and emergency flags
- Vicki Vanderstandten nee Vanstandten, Todd Snodgrass wanted on drug smuggling charges
- Leo Titan leaves wife Brandy Alexander Titan behind in Toronto
- Rescue Aircraft retract comments after SOS signs and emergency flags disappear
- Police reveal investigation of Todd Snodgrass on attempted murder charges. Det. Benvolio Crane heads up investigation
- Kitty Finch accused of stealing office supplies

Priority: Urgent

I have no idea why I am writing this silly memo since there is no staff in the ADHD office to read it!

Sure, go ahead and set up a new account with Wardair and stick poor little old me, Mrs. Nutmeg, with the job of trying to explain why we aren't meeting deadlines! BECAUSE EVERYONE WAS PROBABLY KILLED IN A PLANE CRASH! HAPPY!? Actually, it's kind of ironic, since former creative director Leo Titan had just recovered from his second coma, and both CEO Dougie Bottom Line Burns and his son Henry Burns Jr. recently survived hit and run car accidents that left them practically crippled. All that, just to end up in a fiery crash on the way to a Mexican staff retreat.

As if they were going to get any work done anyway! Delores Mosco and Forrest Bronson were probably going to spend the entire time pretending not to be in love with each other when everyone KNOWS they have been ever since they started working together in the production department. And Delores's ex husband Todd Snodgrass would probably have spent all of his time 'chilling out' with office manager Vicky Vanderstandten nee Vanstandten. Everyone KNOWS they bought a ton of opium from the Chinese mafia just before they left. And speaking of left, I can't BELIEVE that Leo Titan left the hospital in the arms of his secretary Marlow Hayworth and got on the plane without even saying good bye to his wife Brandy Alexander Decanter Titan! Sigh...gossip is no fun when there is no one here to read this.

Well, I guess I'll go ahead and eat the cake I bought for Kitty Finch's baby shower...as IF everyone doesn't know she's pregnant! People keep saying she's stealing staplers and file folders and stuffing them up under her dress, but I know a baby bump when I see one! God knows I've had 5 kids of my own! At least I brought them up better than Dougie Bottom Line Burns is bringing up Henry. That poor young man will know nothing about business except to use people and demand the impossible from underpaid minions. Dougie used to joke around, saying that he dreamed of living on a desert island where he got along with everyone, and didn't have to be mean, and actually fell in love with some strange woman in a stewardess uniform...HA! Like THAT'S ever gonna happen now!

Time to stop typing this ridiculously useless memo and get back to answering phone calls from the Toronto Police Department. How am I supposed to know where their undercover guy Benvolio Crane is?

Coffee room cleanup: Me. Crap.

04/06/1964

Confidential1